Math is everywhere! Find it together!

Are you looking for ways to develop your child's math understanding while learning from home? Check out this parent guide for practical tips and activities that you can do together!

The Ministry of Education's, Doing Mathematics with Your Child - A Parent Guide, is a fantastic resource that provides activities and prompts in support of the major concepts explored in the mathematics curriculum. While this resource references the 2005 mathematics curriculum, the activities and tasks found within are still very relevant and meaningful to their current learning.

The activities in this resource promote and support critical thinking, problem solving, reasoning ability and the ability to communicate mathematically. These processes are the foundation of mathematics instruction in Ontario schools. Explore these skills as you engage your child in the activities suggested in the parent guide which can be viewed here: <https://bit.ly/3txWxeK>.

You are an important partner in your child's mathematics education. There are so many ways to engage your child in thinking and talking about mathematics around the house and in your community! Some activities to check out:

Measurement Matters - Once your child understands how the metric system is organized and how the units relate to one another, conversions will be a snap: <https://bit.ly/3anlu3A>

Get active outdoors

With the warmer weather fast approaching, many of us are anxious to spend more time outdoors, especially children. Research suggests that spending time outdoors has a positive effect on our mental health and well-being. A simple trip outdoors can do wonders for relieving anxiety, stress and depression. Children connected with nature tend to be healthier, happier, sleep better and display better focus and creativity.

If you're looking for some mood-boosting outdoor activities to do with your family, here are some fun ideas to get out and enjoy the great outdoors:

Organize a nature scavenger hunt

A great way to get the whole family outdoors is to organize a nature scavenger hunt. Make a list of nature items found in your yard, neighbourhood or on a trail nearby, and head out to see what you can find! Not only is this activity fun, it gets everyone up and moving.

Create an outdoor obstacle course

Obstacle courses are a great way to engage children in physical activity and create a fun competition. Set up a course in your yard using toys, pillows, water bottles or anything you have at home. The fastest one through the obstacles wins! You could even start a relay for an added challenge!

Take your family workout outdoors

When you are active with your kids, it sends them an important message about healthy living. Try leading your family in a group workout outdoors. If you are looking for ideas and inspiration for family-friendly workouts, visit www.ymcahome.ca where you can find activities for all ages and fitness levels. Once you learn the basic movements of the workout, gather your family outside and exercise together. It's always more fun to exercise with a buddy!
